Whole milk	1 cup
Option 2 (Thicker &amp; Richer)
Condensed milk	1 can (14 oz)
Heavy cream	1 can (12 oz)
Whole milk	1 cup
Option 3 (Sweet &amp; Tangy)
Condensed milk	1 can (14 oz)
Evaporated milk	1 can (12 oz)
Sour cream	1 cup

8.1.3 Frosting

Ingredient	Amount
Heavy cream	1 cup
Powdered sugar	1-2 tablespoons (desired sweetness)
Vanilla extract (optional)	$\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon

8.2 Directions

1. Separate the egg yolks and the egg whites. This is easiest when the eggs are cold. Then allow them to reach room temperature so that the egg whites are easier to whip to stiff peaks.
2. In a separate bowl sift and mix the dry ingredients together.
3. Once the egg whites are at room temperature add the stabilizer and whip the egg whites. Once the egg whites become foamy gradually add about a tablespoon of sugar until stiff peaks form. Add about 3-5 tablespoons of sugar in total.
4. Add the remaining sugar, milk, and vanilla to the egg yolks and begin mixing until thick and gooey in texture.
5. Add the dry ingredients to the egg yolk mixture.
6. Add a couple of dollops of the whipped egg whites to the egg yolk mixture and mix this well to loosen the batter.
7. Add the new mixture to the remaining whipped egg whites and fold the mixture carefully. Gentle mixing here is critical to keep as many pockets of air in the whipped whites.
8. Bake at 325° F for about 35-40 minutes in a 9x9 baking pan or until a skewer inserted comes out clean. The cake should be golden brown, risen, and pulled away from the sides. Allow the cake to cool in the pan for 5-10 minutes before transferring over to a cooling rack to cool completely.
9. Combine the desired creams of choice to create the milk bath and mix well.
10. Transfer cake back to the 9x9 pan and poke lots of holes on top of the cake so that the cake can absorb the milk bath.
11. Pour the milk bath evenly on the cake slowly to allow the cake to absorb all of the milks. Cover the cake and refrigerate overnight.
12. Whip the heavy cream (must be cold), powdered sugar and vanilla until stiff peaks form. Spread the frosting on the cake.
